Things To Do At Home

Help your mom or dad with an extra chore around the house.
What did you do?

Prepare a snack for someone in your family before they ask for one and then take it to them. What did you make?

Miriam

Miriam served God by doing a small job with great value. She had a big responsibility to take care of her baby brother, Moses. Miriam's task was to make sure baby Moses floated down the Nile River in his basket safely. During this time, the Egyptian rulers didn't want any Jewish families to have newborn sons. Sending baby Moses down the river was the only way to keep him out of harms way. Even though Miriam was small and young, her service of protecting her brother was very important. An Egyptian princess found baby Moses at the end of the river and wanted to keep him as her own. Miriam continued to serve by making sure the princess had a nurse to help her with the baby. This nurse was Moses' real mother. Miriam's purpose was simple: to serve by being responsible for her brother's safety. Even serving on a small scale can lead to great outcomes! (Source: Exodus 2)

Do This!

We can look for ways to serve and help others. When we do nice things without being asked, we are serving others. When we help out with extra chores around the house, we are being helpful. We can choose to think of others and not be selfish and think only of ourselves. Is there someone you can help out today?

Practice Point:

An ant will serve with all of his might,
And I will serve because it's right!
